Mrs. Ellen Smith is daily expecting word of her son, Stuart's arrival in France.

Mrs. V. J. Robinson will leave Sunday to join her husband now stationed at Bremerton, Washington.

Bohrman-Hemmy

Miss Marie Bohrman, a former Campbell girl, was united in marriage with Monte Hemmy, a young man from Berkeley. Wednesday of last week at her home in San Jose.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Meyer, only a few intimate friends and relatives being present, Miss Ruth Hayes and Florence Brown being from Camobell.

The couple were attended by old friends of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Jr.

The bride wore pink and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas.

The groom who has recently returned from France of illness wore his uniform as a traveling suit while the bride's traveling suit was of military to match.

Mr Hemmy has been given the position of foreman on the large ranch at Santa Clara recently given up by Robert Kenredy who expects to join the army soon.

By mistake a navy blue suit coat was taken from the I. O. O. F. Hall July 7. Owner may have it by returning the one taken in its place by calling on Mrs. Ben Dalvit.

The American's Creed

I BELIEVE in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign states; a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

Willie Green With Flying Macheen

Miss Zadie Rice received the following interesting letter from her cousin, Will Green who is now with the Sammies in France.

A. E. F. France, June 18.

Dear Zadie:

I received your welcome letter a short time ago. It has certainly been a long time since I heard from any of you.

Yes I received the pictures when I was down in Texas. The people at home seem to think much differently about my leaving than they did when I left. It seems almost funny, everyone pictures a soldier in the trenches all the time in the worst kind of danger when really we are about as safe as anyone at home. Real war is an altogether different thing from the stories you read of it or the pictures of war you see. Of course things are not the same as they are at home but they certainly aren't what you imagine them to be.

I have had a wonderful chance to visit some of the things and some of the places people travel so far to see. I saw the wonderful Winchester Cathedral in England, King Arthur's Round Table and many other very novel and artistic buildings, paintings, castles and statues, as well as where most of the kings and queens of England were buried. What I saw of the real country of England was certainly pretty; just like one huge landscape garden. I have also seen some places of interest in France. I had the opportunity to visit Nance, Paris, and many other small places. I saw where Joan of Arc, or as the French say "Joan de Arc," was born. Of all these places though, I think Paris was the most wonderful and interesting. I like the people here, too, they are so democratic in their ideas.

Write when you get time. I am always glad to hear from home. Give all the people who ask about me my best regards.

Sincerely
WILLIAM A. GREEN.

Wheat Restrictions Are Still in Force

Emphatic denial of reports that because of the estimated billion bushel wheat crop this year, wheat conservation is no longer necessary, is made by Frederick O'Brien, acting federal food commissioner for California, following receipt of information from Washington.

"While it is true that America will probably shortly harvest an enormous wheat and cereal grain crop, it is equally true that there must be no relaxation in the continued observance of saving wheat and wheat products at present. Disregard of this may prove disastrous both to America and the allied nations.

"We must build a reserve stock for the future here as well as in England, France and Italy, which will assure that starvation will never confront any nation now fighting the battle against the Hun.

"Until that time, therefore, the Food Administration urges every patriotic person in the state to continue to observe the wheatless days and wheatless meals, and that those who can go entirely without wheat in the future as they have in the past.

"When the danger point is past the Food Administration will gladly release the people from their self-imposed burden, but until such official announcement is made, patriotic people should ignore and frown upon anything which suggests relaxing food conservation."

Wilbur Mitchell has been reported among the safe arrivals across the water.

People in Campbell and Santa Clara county entitled to vote will lose their right to cast a ballot in the coming very important election unless they register before Saturday night, July 27th. Voters are also urged to state their party affiliation because of the fact that unless they do so they will be deprived of the right to vote on certain questions.

There Is Something Sweet Besides Sugar

Now that the shortage in granulated sugar has reached the really painful stage, there will be more attention paid to other forms of sweets. Syrups, in particular, will come in for a larger share of use.

Of the various syrups, Corn Syrup is the most valuable from the standpoint of conservation, because it is a product of America's most prolific grain.

Karo Corn Syrup is deservedly the most popular in its class. It can be made to cover a large field of usefulness. It will replace a part of your sugar in canning and preserving, it can be used to make delicious cakes and pastry.

Three brands of Karo Syrup are sold: Dark Karo, Crystal White Karo, and Maple Flavored Karo. For table use, for breakfast hot-cakes, the Maple Flavored Karo is especially recommended. It "hits the spot". Try a can with your next order. Two sizes; 20c, and 65c.

The Laurel Wreath

Over in France they are sleeping,
Each one in his narrow bed;
Yet on thro' the years will go marching
The ranks of the hero dead.

They went from their lov'd home land
From their mothers and sweethearts and wives
To march under Liberty's banner
And have laid on her altar, their lives.

They have gone from our sight forever
Yet still shall their martial tread
Go echoing thro' the hall of time,
Footsteps of our honored dead!

We will give honor to our heroes
Who for freedom drew the lance
As they lie in peaceful slumber
Neath the sunny skies of France.

In our hearts we will pay homage
To our heroes brave and true;
They fought and fell for freedom
Neath the grand Red, White and Blue!

TIMELY POINTS FOR SOUTHERN STOCKMEN

Pasture Grass Planted on Waste Land Is Profitable.

Purebred Bulls Should Be Used for Grading Up Native Stock—Finishing Cattle in Early Summer Is Recommended.

(Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.)

Good pastures are essential for profitable beef production. Plant pasture grasses over the waste lands.

Use purebred beef bulls for grading up the native stock.

Always select the best heifers for breeding purposes.

Eradicate the ticks on the farm.

Use the coarse fodders, straws, and the stalk fields for wintering the breeding herd.

Wean the calves when the pastures get short. Put them in the cornfields and pea fields while weaning and teach them to eat cottonseed cake or cottonseed meal.

Raise and finish beef cattle on the same farm when possible.

A mixture of cottonseed meal, cottonseed hulls, and alfalfa hay is a good ration for fattening calves.

Splendid Herd of Beef Cattle.

Silage is the best roughage for fattening any class of cattle.

More care is necessary in feeding calves than in feeding grown cattle.

At the present prices corn silage is a cheaper and better feed for fattening beef cattle than cottonseed hulls.

Hulls and cottonseed meal make an excellent feed for a short feeding period, but do not produce good gains on cattle after the third month.

It is not entirely satisfactory to use corn stover as the sole roughage.

When Johnson-grass hay costs $10 and hulls $7 per ton it is more profitable to feed the hulls alone.

Summer feeding on pasture is usually more profitable than winter feeding.

Finishing cattle early in the summer is usually more profitable than finishing them later in the season.

Fattening steers on grass and cottonseed cake is nearly always more profitable than grazing them without feed.

Thin steers when put on pasture make larger and cheaper daily gains than fleshy ones.

Pound for pound cold pressed cottonseed cake is not equal to the common cottonseed cake.

The use of a small amount of corn in addition to cottonseed cake has proven profitable for feeding steers on grass.—From Farmers' Bulletin No. 580.

GARDENS FOR SOLDIERS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A backyard garden for every soldier.

Keep this in mind in deciding whether or not you will have a garden this year.

Of course, the soldiers at the front cannot enjoy the fresh vegetables you raise, but you can, and every meal made up of the vegetables from your garden will leave more meat and wheat for the soldiers. These can be readily shipped to France; most fresh vegetables can not, and unless you eat more vegetables, some soldier will not have his share.

GET OUT OF DOORS.

Get out of doors! 'Tis there you'll find
The better things of heart and mind.
Get out beneath some stretch of sky
And watch the white clouds drifting by,
And all the petty thoughts will fade
Before the wonders God has made.

Go wade a trout stream in the spring,
And brother with the birds a-wing;
Know what it means to wander far,
Your guide the sun or evening star.
Who sleeps beneath the open sky
Soon grows too big to tell a lie.

Get out of doors! The fields are clean,
The woods will teach you nothing mean.
Who toils beneath the summer sun
Sleeps soundest when his work is done.
If splendid manhood you would know
Get out where you've a chance to grow.

Read deeply kindly nature's books,
Familiarize yourself with brooks;
And with the majesty of trees,
The constant industry of bees,
And all that shapes the Master's plan—
They'll teach you how to be a man.

ASK NO QUARTER IN FIGHTS WITH HUN U-BOATS

Lion-Hearted British Crews Give Good Account of Themselves in Sea Warfare.

MANY DEEDS OF HEROISM

Led by Clever Skippers, Sailors Battle Against Almost Hopeless Odds, Winning Victory Frequently by Scantiest of Margins.

London.—Sometimes it is illuminating to look deeper into shipping reports than the statement, for instance, that "in three weeks six, four and eleven British ships of more than 1,600 tons have been sunk." Doing so, one finds that in one month—mid-March to mid-April—64 vessels were attacked by U-boats and escaped.

From the logs of a few tramp ships in the custody of the admiralty which have come safely to port with their cargoes in recent days some typical tales may be told.

A tramp proceeding at a leisurely six knots, entered the danger zone. All precautions were taken, extra lookouts were posted and the gun's crew—for she was defensively armed—were standing round their "piece." The day had just dawned and there was every promise of a fine day. Another three miles away to port, with the red of the morning sun glinting on her gray back, a German submarine was sighted.

As she was seen the U-boat opened fire and shells dropped all round the steamship, which shifted her helm and put the U-boat dead astern, firing at her all the time. The steamship's gun crew were very cool and planted their shells all round the submarine; and the U-boat did not like it a bit. Then the steamship put up a smoke screen and the U-boat dived in a panic, apparently expecting instant dissolution.

Second U-Boat Appears.

She had hardly disappeared when another U-boat, about 300 feet long, and mounting guns fore and aft of the conning tower, broke surface. The smoke screen was no longer serviceable, for the wind was blowing the wrong way; so the steamship let fly at her second antagonist, who replied with vigor, shrapnel sprinkling the tramp's decks. For half an hour the fight went on. Then one of the steamship's shells fell close to the U-boat, which dived and vanished under the water just as a patrol boat appeared on the scene and loosed off a couple of devastating rounds. It was a fine performance to beat off two pirate ships in such a short space of time, and master and gun's crew received commendation from my lords of the admiralty.

In another case it was a duel both of gunnery and seamanship. Proceeding steadfastly on her course, a British steamship heard gunfire in the distance, but could see nothing of the enemy. The propeller thrust her ahead.

The white cliffs of Albion were lifting on the horizon when, just as twilight was falling, a U-boat appeared a point or two on the starboard bow to the northward. Instantly all hands were ordered to their stations. Helm was put full over, and the U-boat brought astern, fire being opened on the enemy, while a firebox was lighted. It was difficult to distinguish the enemy—a large boat, apparently mounting two guns—which maneuvered backward and forward across the steamship's course in an endeavor to bring both her guns into action at the same time.

Skipper Gets Fritz in Tangle.

But the British skipper was a better seaman than the German, and he skilfully thwarted the enemy's scheme, and got Fritz in no end of a tangle. Now and again the U-boat scored a hit. The steamship's wireless aerials were carried away, her mainmast was holed, the exhaust steampipe was perforated and the starboard lifeboat and dinghy damaged. But that did not bother the steamship or her crew.

The latter were grinning at the gunners, who were having an exasperating time of it. Just imagine a crew of expert gunners with a fine gun, and a burning desire to strafe a submarine, finding that their gun platform has collapsed, and that with a "sub" as a target they have to fire more or less by guesswork.

But as the navy men always do, these gunners buckled to. The gun kicked abominably, and the sighter had his eyes blackened and his face cut, but despite this the shooting was too close and too hot for the U-boat, which kept at a respectful distance. The bos'n and "Sparks," the wireless man, took the risk of the U-boat's fire and repaired the aerials, and the steamer plugged ahead for harbor. But it was some hours later before the pirate drew off, baffled by the indomitable pluck of the British sailormen.

Crew Below Decks Also Heroes.

And just a word here for the "black squad." Both watches of engineers and stokers were below throughout the action, and though a shell came through the bunkers and filled the stokehold with coal and ashes, they "carried on" with amazing pluck.

Here is another fine bit of work. A big ship in ballast, standing out of the water like a cathedral, was navigating to a certain port to pick up an urgent cargo when the skipper, who had been on the bridge for many hours, saw the track of a torpedo approaching his ship.

"Hard a-port," he called to the quartermaster at the wheel, and "Full astern" was rung down to the engine room, where Bob, "the third," was on duty by himself. The ship spun around on her heel, as it were, and the torpedo passed her by. Then the engine room bell clanged for full ahead, and down the voice-pipe into Bob's ear came the insistent call for speed and more speed.

By this time the chief engineer and his staff were on the foot-plate, and the ship, which ordinarily did eleven knots at her top gait, began to cut up the water at a rate which would have astonished her builders. From the wireless the S O S call was sent out and the gunner got busy, but the U-boat was out of range and fire was held until the pirate got closer, when he was driven back again.

Fight Continues for Three Hours.

When the fight had continued for four hours a shell from the steamer fell amidships on the submarine's starboard side, but this did not prevent him from continuing the engagement. The German kept trying to creep out on the steamer's port side, but the master checkmated him each time and continued to keep him dead astern.

When the sun began to set the German tried to maneuver so that the steamer's gunners would have to fire into the eye of the sun. But the master prevented him from getting the benefit of such a position until the sun was obscured by clouds.

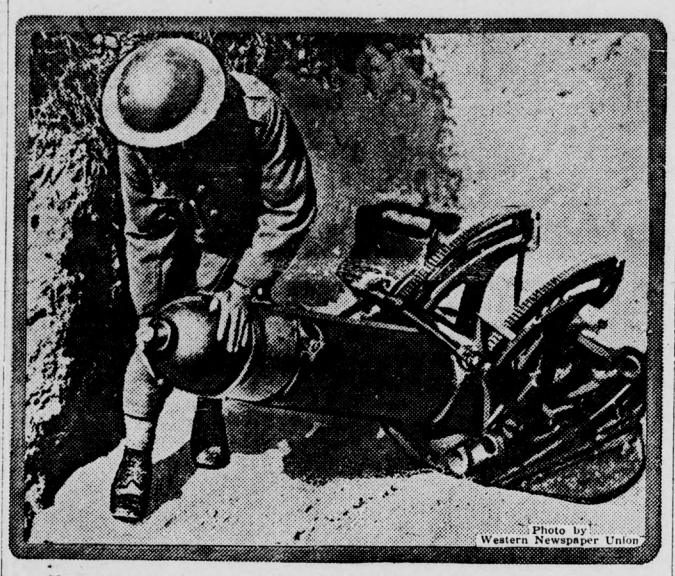
Throughout the engagement, which lasted six hours, the German managed to score only one hit. This shell broke the steamer's deck surface pipe, punched a hole through the boatswain's and carpenter's room without touching two men who were there, finally exploding in the second cook's room, which it wrecked. Apart from this the steamer suffered no damage. The last shell fired by the steamer appeared to explode in the U-boat's bow, whereupon the enemy turned away and abandoned the action.

The master's opinion of his crew is expressed in the following words:

Specially Praises Engineer's Staff.

"They all behaved splendidly and carried out their various duties coolly and with a will to save the ship. The careful and deliberate shooting undoubtedly contributed to our successful escape, while the chief engineer and his staff, working in ignorance down below, deserve special praise for getting thirteen and an eighth knots out of an undocked ship, whose usual speed is about eleven knots."

CANADIAN LOADING TRENCH MORTAR



Here is a Canadian on the west front loading a trench mortar with the big projectile that will carry death to the Huns not far away.

TO REFIT ARMIES FOR INDUSTRY

British Cabinet Already Has Plan of Work for Soldiers After War.

GERMANY ALSO PREPARING

Colonization on Farms, Carefully Worked Out by an Expert, Liable to Be Upset by Revolt of the Proletariat.

London.—The British government is now at work considering how the great task of demobilizing the army and the resettlement of the soldiers into civil occupations at the conclusion of the war is to be accomplished. The plan drawn up by the minister of labor is receiving careful attention, and it is understood considerable progress has been made.

Germany also is giving this subject her attention and the series of articles by Herr Utsch in the Deutsche Landwirtschaftliche Presse considers the proposed settlement on the land of soldiers returning from the war.

Herr Utsch begins by pointing out that it is a national duty to provide the disabled or injured soldier not only with an adequate pension but with suitable employment which will enable him to support himself and his family in sufficient comfort. In providing such employment, he says, due regard must be paid to the wishes and the capacity of the individual, and no better means for effecting this can be found than home colonization, for in no other domain are the possibilities so great, since vast tracts of waste land still exist in Germany waiting to be opened up and the returning soldier cherishes no dearer wish than to have a home of his own.

Sees Added Wealth.

At the same time, says Herr Utsch, the interests of the country will be served, since every fresh small colony increases the national wealth and makes it more independent of foreign countries in the production of food. He sees a further advantage in attracting labor to rural districts.

The writer divides the nature of the employment of the settlers as follows:

Settlements for men employed in industries or factories.

Holdings for agricultural laborers.

Holdings for independent artisans.

Small holdings with land attached up to 60 acres or more.

Considering the first class named they necessarily will be only possible in the vicinity of towns or large industrial concerns.

The question of the settlement of those coming under class two will be vital for agriculture after the war. These holdings, he says, should be large enough to enable the settler to grow sufficient cereals and potatoes for himself and family and to keep one or two cows.

As for the independent artisans in class three, it would be for the interests of every community to do its utmost to attract labor to the land in its immediate vicinity.

Under class four, which would be providing for peasant holdings, the district authorities and the provincial settlement companies would have it to deal with. These settlers would be those who could command adequate agricultural knowledge, those who before the war were tenant farmers, farm agents, or belonged to the more efficient class of farm laborers.

Herr Utsch believes that during the first period after the war it will be necessary to proceed mainly with the establishment of individual settlements near existing villages, for the settlers will find it easier to make a living and with the assistance of the communes, buildings will be cheaper. It will not be necessary to undertake road making and drainage operations on a large scale. This character of settlement, he believes, would induce soldiers to settle near their old homes, where, as they are known, assistance will be more readily given to them.

Funds From War Profits.

As to the capital that will be necessary to establish such communal settlements, the writer suggests that about 10 per cent of all war profits which after the payment of taxes exceed 20,000 marks ought to be lent on mortgages on the settlements at the rate of 3 to 3½ per cent.

Another article dealing with conditions in Germany after the war, but on entirely different lines from the pen of C. D. Stelling, considers the extent in which revolutionary ideas permeate the German army and what may be the outcome. The writer says:

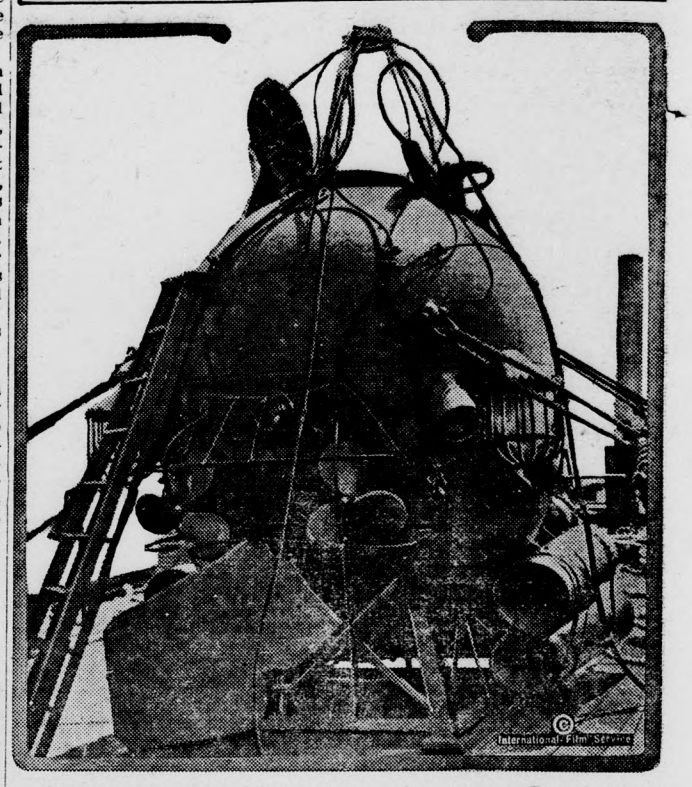
"The fuel of revolt is being heaped up to await the torch that will set it aflame. Competent observers foretell that revolution will inevitably follow the conclusion of the war. The drugged and brutalized proletariat is waking from its trance. With organization and leadership the torpid German people will at last turn against the false gods it has been worshipping and dash them to the ground."

Two-Headed Calf Lives.

Eau Claire, Wis.—A two-headed calf born on the farm of Matt Leet, who lives a short distance from this city, is still alive. Both heads have perfectly formed mouths, two eyes and two noses, but there are only two ears, one on the outer side of each head.

Diving Bell to Raise Treasures of the Deep

Wonderful Submarine Is the Invention of W. D. Sisson, an American Engineer



Millions and possibly billions of dollars worth of treasures now lying on the ocean floor in sunken ships may be regained to the world by the "cannon ball." The great diving bell has just been completed and is now being tested. It resembles a cannon ball, a giant sphere, eight feet in diameter. The shell is made of tough vanadium steel, one and one-fourth inches in thickness and weighs, with the machinery inside, six tons. The submarine works by maneuvering huge steel pontoons alongside a sunken ship, bolting the pontoons to the vessel and thus releasing the mechanism which pumps the pontoons free of water and raises the sunken ship. The largest pontoons are 40 feet long and 15 feet in diameter, and have a lifting power of 300 tons each.

Two operators form the crew of the diving bell and they work in normal atmospheric conditions because of an oxygen tank on top of the sphere. The air supply will last for 72 hours without being replenished. The supporting cable and all electrical and telephone wires are carried in an insulated cable, which is strong enough to support 56 tons.

Two propellers and a rudder give the ball lateral movement and two propellers send it up and down. These propellers push the ball through the water at two miles per hour.

In front of the ball are four 3,000 candle power nitrogen lamps, covered with a steel net, and a two-inch glass, to light up the hulls of the sunken ships. Near each light is a lookout lens four inches in thickness. On the front are huge magnets, which draw the ball to the hull of the sunken vessel.

KEEP POULTRY IN BACK YARD

The department of agriculture has a campaign in full swing for the establishment of small flocks of poultry in back yards of city or suburban dwellings. In every household, no matter how economical the housewife, there is a certain amount of table scraps and kitchen waste which has feeding value, but which, if not fed, finds its way into the garbage pail. Poultry is the only class of domestic animals which is suitable for converting this waste material, right where it is produced in the city, into wholesome and nutritious food in the form of eggs and poultry meat.

Though the value of the product from each city flock is small of itself the aggregate is large. A small flock of hens, even as few as six or eight, should produce eggs enough, where used economically, for a family of four or five persons throughout the entire year, except during the molting period of the fall and early winter. By the preservation of surplus eggs produced during the spring and early summer this period of scarcity can be provided for. The keeping of pullets instead of hens also will insure the production of eggs. Not only will the eggs from the home flock materially reduce the cost of living, but the superior freshness and quality of the eggs are in themselves well worth the effort expended. Eggs are a highly nutritious food and are so widely used as to be almost indispensable, and an occasional chicken dinner is relished by everyone.

Where conditions render it feasible and cheap small flocks of poultry should be kept to a greater extent than at present by families in villages and towns and especially in the suburbs of large cities. The need for this extension of poultry raising is particularly great in those sections where the consumption of poultry products exceeds the production, with the result that prices are high.

Boy Scouts' Duty in the Great War Garden Movement

The food production and garden campaign of the Boy Scouts of America is well under way, says Boys' Life, the boy scouts' magazine. Every scout, and indeed every troop and every local council, according to reports, is definitely interested in some way. This year every scout is asked to be responsible for securing one adult to agree to work with him on the scout's individual garden or on the troop garden or on the local council garden. The adult might be a scout's father, his brother or his sister's best fellow, his uncle, or indeed any man who will faithfully stick to the job until the crops are harvested.

Home-Grown Sweet Corn Is Best—Good Advice on How To Grow Your Roasting Ears

To have sweet corn at its best, says the U. S. department of agriculture, it should be on the fire within 15 minutes after being pulled from the stalk. It loses quality very rapidly after being picked because its sugar changes into starch. This is a fine argument for having this crop in the home garden, if space will allow. Those who wish to grow their own roasting ears will find the following advice useful:

Corn does best in a fertile soil, but is able to adapt itself to all textures from sand to clay. To grow it in sufficient quantities for the average family requires more space, however, than for most garden vegetables. It should not be planted until after danger of frost is past.

The rows should be spaced not closer than three feet apart, and for the larger-growing late varieties the distance had best be three and one-half feet. Stalks should be thinned to stand from 15 to 18 inches in the row. In planting, the seed is covered with one or two inches of soil. Cultivation must be thorough, frequent, and shallow.

It is possible to use the ground occupied by early corn for a fall planting of such crops as spinach, turnips, and kale. Large, late varieties of corn, however, will occupy the ground for practically the whole season.

Business Before Pleasure

Never before did so many Americans spend so much money in Europe, or for such a good purpose.

Silence is usually the best asset of a good-looking woman.

Wonder if the cannibals were informed of the dates of meatless days.

It is always hazardous for an unattractive woman to shoot her husband.

The man who eats garlic can always attract attention if not fame.

First Street Lighting.

Gas for street lighting was first used in Pall Mall, London, 111 years ago. The first attempt to introduce the use of gas in America was in Baltimore, in 1816. The project was unsuccessful. In 1822 it was introduced in Boston, and in the following year New York streets were lighted by gas. The system did not prove successful, however, until 1827. The use of gas spread rapidly in other cities in the United States and Canada. Rosin and oil were used for producing gas in America in the early days of the industry, but later Newcastle coal and the Albert coal of Nova Scotia, were employed.

YOU'RE AN EASY PREY, with your flesh reduced below a healthy standard, or Consumption and other Scrofulous and dangerous diseases. And it's for just this condition that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is especially valuable.

If you're thinner than you ought to be, whether from wasting diseases, defective nutrition, or whatever cause, the "Discovery" will surely bring you up to the healthy standard. By restoring the normal action of the deranged organs and functions, it arouses every natural source and means of nourishment. A strength-restorer and flesh-builder. It can be had in tablet or liquid form. Tablets, 60c. All druggists.

WHEN WE ARE HAPPIEST.

When we are happiest,
And I am aware
Of only your eyes
And your tossed dark hair;

When the whole world narrows
Into our bliss.
Why do I suddenly
Think of this:

A field in France
Where young men lie
Dying . . .
Under a reddened sky!

Guns howl over them,
And under
Shell-torn earth
Shakes with thunder.

They spoke the love-words
We lovers do;
Their women loved them
As I love you. . . .

You smother my words with kisses,
But they . . .
Their lips tonight
Are pressed to the clay.
Everybody's Magazine.

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

Cowards.

That incorrigible bachelor, George Ade, said dismally at a wedding breakfast the other day:

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you —Adv.

ABOARD THE TRANSPORT.

I haven't told our secret, dear,
Since my good-by to you;
But flowers and birds were singing it,
And flags and ribbons flinging it,
And golden sunshine bringing it
Down every breeze that blew.

It filled me as we crossed the pier
To march aboard the boat
With every band a-playing it,
The stepping feet a-saying it,
The singing tars belaying it;
Filled eyes and heart and throat.

The story still goes on by night
Though all the bunting's furled;
The tightening ropes are rattling it,
The speeding waves are prattling it,
The whispering stars are tattling it
And telling all the world.

I know when we get where they fight
And beckoning death shall call,
Where bursting steel is shelling it,
And flaming guns are belling it,
And deadly hate is helling it,
Our love will last them all.

GOOD-BY.

Her eyes as soft as the violet,
Yet mysteriously deep like the sea,
Her ruby lips a-quivering,
She bade good-by to me.

And she turned her dear face heavenward
While a tear bedimmed her eye;
But never a word to me did she speak
Except that hushed "Good-by."

And I kissed her as she stood there,
Her face so drawn and white,
But the only words that fell from her lips
Were "Good-by, dear, good-night."

And often, in the trench, alone,
I think of her saintly grace,
Of the immortal brightness
That illuminated her tear-stained face.

'Tis her prayers that have kept me safely,
Her trust that has kept me true,
But this I shall always remember,
'Tis her love that has brought me through. —Leslie's.

Keeping Up the Game.

"Smith is a great golf bug, isn't he?" said Brown.

"Yes," replied Jones. "He kept his hand in all winter and had practice every day."

"But how could he practice in winter, when the links are closed?" asked Brown.

"He walked down town every morning, and every 200 yards he would swing at an imaginary ball with his cane," replied Jones. "Then he would cuss a blue streak, and when he got down town he would drink a Scotch highball."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

How France Has Been Fed

"Before the war, a distinguished French Officer, General Maitrot, wrote a series of articles in the 'Echo de Paris' to warn France, that in case of war, the French meat industry would be unable to supply the French army in the field with fresh meat,—owing especially to the lack of modern refrigerating plants and of refrigerating transportation,—and too, owing to the deficiency in the national herd."

"Since the war began the French army has never been short of fresh meat, thanks mainly to the prosperous condition of the American meat industry, and too, to the American live stock breeders."

The foregoing statement was made by a representative of the Allies now in the United States.

Another representative of the Allies said recently:

"that the American packers have been of the greatest possible assistance to the Allies and have, by their efficient cooperation, contributed in the utmost degree to the successful prosecution of the war."

Tired Nervous Mothers

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my housework."— Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."— Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

To Dan R. Hayes, T. V. Brown, Geo. W. Glendenning and J. J. Stanfield:

The Congress of the United States has proposed an amendment to the Federal Constitution abolishing, throughout the entire nation, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. There is only one way provided by the United States Constitution in which this amendment can be adopted—that is by the vote of the respective State Legislatures.

At the coming session of the California Legislature next January every member will have to vote either "yes" or "no" on this Federal amendment. The voters of the county are entitled to know, before election, how every candidate will vote on this question.

If elected, we will vote "yes" on this national amendment?

This space will be reserved, at the expense of the undersigned, one week from to-day for your answer. Your reply may be sent to the office of this newspaper, and a copy of the same to S. G. Tompkins, Auzerais Building.

To The Voters of Campbell Township

I solicit your votes at the coming Primary election for the office of Constable of the township. I am a native American of French (Alsatian) descent, have been both a workingman and an employer, have been affiliated with the Democratic party but have not always voted a straight ticket when I thought that the country would be better served by scratching, was raised a Catholic but believe that a man's religion is his own business, do not believe in kaiserism either in Europe or America, will not make a house to house canvass for votes as I believe that voters should make up their own minds as to whom they wish to vote, for. A m familiar with the laws as I have served terms as deputy sheriff and constable in a northern county and if elected will endeavor to do my duty without fear or favor, to the best of my ability.

What They Want

If you can measure up to these requirements you can go to France as a Y. M. C. A. War Work secretary:

Good mixer,
Over draft age,
Not a pacifist or slacker,
Willing to go under shell fire,
Broad-gauged and willing to go where sent.

The call has gone out from the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. for 4000 men for overseas service before September 1. These men must go to France as big brothers for the boys who have gone from their homes to fight in the great cause. The Y. M. C. A. secretary must take cheer into his life, serve him at all times and keep him fit to fight.

Frank A. Jackson, head of the bureau of personnel for the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. with headquarters at 519 First National Bank Building, San Francisco, says that the need for men at this time is most urgent.

"We want men big enough to have a smile and a cheery word when they themselves are fagged out after hours of service for our boys. We want men with big hearts and hard muscles; men who will go to France on a blind assignment, ready to handle whatever job appears at the moment to be most important. We need natural letters, men who are real men, good mixers and capable of exerting to proper influence.

"We don't want pacifists, slackers. Our men go under shell fire. They have been gassed and wounded by bursting shrapnel. We need men who understand something about athletics, who can drive motor trucks. We need red-blooded American men who don't know what fear is but who want to serve overseas and do something to help win this war."

An Unjust Taxation

A petition is being circulated for the purpose of establishing a kindergarten in Campbell, and it will be remembered that the same proposition came up last year and was signed by a number who were not cognizant of the conditions which it involved. When matters were made clear several of the names were withdrawn.

The same opposition is being put forth at present and justly so, as the law permits twenty-five signers of this petition to impose a direct tax upon the whole district amounting to a $10,000 bond. To levy a bond, an election, properly advertised must be held, and a two-thirds majority of voters secured. But this petition makes it possible for 25 families to make it obligatory for the supervisors to levy a direct tax sufficient to equip, maintain and provide salary for a teacher, for a kindergarten, which requires several thousand dollars.

The value of the kindergarten is not the point in question, but under present war conditions especially it is not just for a handful of voters to impose additional tax burdens on the district for the benefit of a few.

Certainly the state assembly was asleep or something, when this bill was put thru. We favor everything advancing education, but not that the wish of a few should decide, willy-nilly, so extensive an amount of taxation.

Mrs. Lucy Smith yesterday received word that her son, Corporal Leonard Smith, had arrived safely "over there."

Miss Helen Baugh is home from her school at Fulton for another vacation of which she has several during the year.

Miss Agnes Howe will speak Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock to the Home and School Club at the Campbell Grammar School. Everybody is cordially invited. Civilian relief sewing every Tuesday, and all who can are urged to attend as many of the faithful workers are busy at this time.

J. W. Fish

The sad news of the death, by suicide, of J. W. Fish of Mountain View, in New York, was received Sunday. Mr. Fish left Mountain View, where he had been manager of the Mountain View Lumber Co. for some time, several weeks ago.

The finances of the company were in a serious condition and efforts were made to locate Mr. Fish, who visited several cities before going to New York.

For some months prior to his departure the unfortunate man had been suffering from an abscess in the head, causing untold agony and weeks of sleepless nights, which no doubt influenced his final actions.

Mr. Fish assisted W. D. Sturtevant in the lumber yard here for some time and he and Mrs. Fish had a wide circle of friends, whose sincerest sympathy is extended to her and his mother in their sad hour.

Miss Harriet Dunphy returned Thursday from a few day's visit with friends at Burlingame.

Furnished apartments, 3 rooms and sleeping porch, modern plumbing, for rent. Inquire of Mrs. M. J. Wilson.
